YOUNG MEN ARE APPREHENDED AS YEG SUSPECTS

Claim Made Youths Separated Casual Acquaintance From Large Sum After Assault

Three young men were arraigned in the court of Justice Wade H. Clay in Daly City, Wednesday afternoon of this week on a charge of assault and robbery. Their preliminary hearing was set for Thursday of next week at 2 o'clock, in the afternoon.

The three are accused of slugging and robbing a San Francisco bartender after taking him for a "ride" early last Sunday morning, in Colma.

Smith stated he came to Daly City early Sunday, looking for friends. He met two of the youths in a Daly City bar. They said they would direct the visitor to his friends. Instead they went from place to place, drinking.

At the last place visited, the last member of the trio joined the party.

When he left and got into his car, Smith claims the trio attacked him, beating him with their fists and kicking him into unconsciousness.

When he recovered consciousness "somewhere" near Daly City, Smith said his wallet, containing $160, and his watch, pen and pencil were gone.

Smith displayed cut lips and a badly bruised face as evidence of the attack when he appeared at the district attorney's office in Redwood City to make complaint.

One of the young men, at a trial on a previous charge, was admitted to three years' probation, which would have expired next month. He has violated his probation in the present case, according to County Probation Officer Francis Robinson.

The three defendants were arrested by Constable George Kreel and Daly City Police Chief Reardon and Sergeant Sunderland and held in the Daly City jail until the time of their arraignment.

When it was disclosed that the alleged crime was committed outside the Daly City limits, the trio were turned over to the custody of Sheriff McGrath of San Mateo County. They are being held in the Redwood City bastile.

DAMAGE SUIT FOR INJURIES AT STREET CROSSING

Victor Berneri, 45, of Colma, filed suit in the superior court of San Mateo county, at Redwood City, Saturday of last week, against the Market Street Railway Company for $25,000 damages, as the outcome of an accident at Colma, some time ago.

Berneri claims a south bound trolley car knocked him to the pavement and injured him while he was crossing the street with a policeman on the night of December 19, 1936.

The former chief of police of Daly City, John Doyle, was struck in the same accident, while escorting the complainant across the street, at the intersection of Mission and Market streets, Colma. Doyle died shortly afterwards as the result of injuries received at that time.

Interesting News of Our Junior College

Three Matean soccer players won all-conference honors in the Junior College League when the coaches got together to name the all-star team. The Jaysee soccer squad ended its season with a dinner in San Francisco.

President Charles Morris recently attended the meeting of the California Teachers Association Council in Los Angeles. The two-day meeting was devoted to a study of student, school and legislative problems.

Dave Neptune, Jaysee sophomore, won a first prize in a national drafting contest sponsored by the society for the Promotion of Engineering Education. San Mateo was the only junior college to be honored with a place, all other awards going to university students scattered about this country and Canada.

Junior College classes will end their Christmas holidays Monday, January 3.

DO NOT FAIL TO THINK OF THE OTHER FELLOW

This is the season of the year when most everyone is happy and busy trying to make someone else happy. What a wonderful holiday season it would be if during the entire celebration no one would have cause to regret his carelessness, recklessness or indiscretion while driving or walking on the public highways and streets.

Most traffic accidents are preventable if individual motorists will think before, during and after their driving.

Don't spoil your holiday fun by having an accident; help the other fellow have his fun, too.—San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

DEAD LINE FOR LIQUOR PERMITS SET BY BOARD

Penalties Provided For Failure To Secure Licenses Prior To Time Designated As Limit

Midnight, December 31, will be the absolute dead-line for the filing without penalty, of applications for renewal of on-sale liquor permits, according to an announcement today by John C. Corbett, member of the State Board of Equalization for this district.

On-sale liquor licensees who fail to apply for renewal of their permits by midnight of December 31, must pay a penalty of 15 per cent up to January 10. Between January 10 and 15, applicants for permit renewals will be forced to pay a penalty of 25 per cent.

All on-sale liquor licensees who have failed to file application for renewal of their permits by January 15, will be declared out of business, Corbett said, adding that if such delinquents desire to continue in business, it will be necessary for them to file application for a new license, following the same procedure as when they first applied for an on-sale license, and in the meantime, no sale of liquor will be permitted.

Permit renewal application blanks are being mailed now, direct from the State Board headquarters in Sacramento, to the on-sale licensee. Those in this district who do not receive their application blanks by December 20, should apply direct to the State Board office, Room 116, State Building, San Francisco, for San Francisco and San Mateo counties, and at the San Jose office, 98 North First street, for Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties.

Any change in the business setup of an on-sale liquor premises necessitates application for a new license, instead of a renewal. These applications may be made at the respective offices as outlined above.

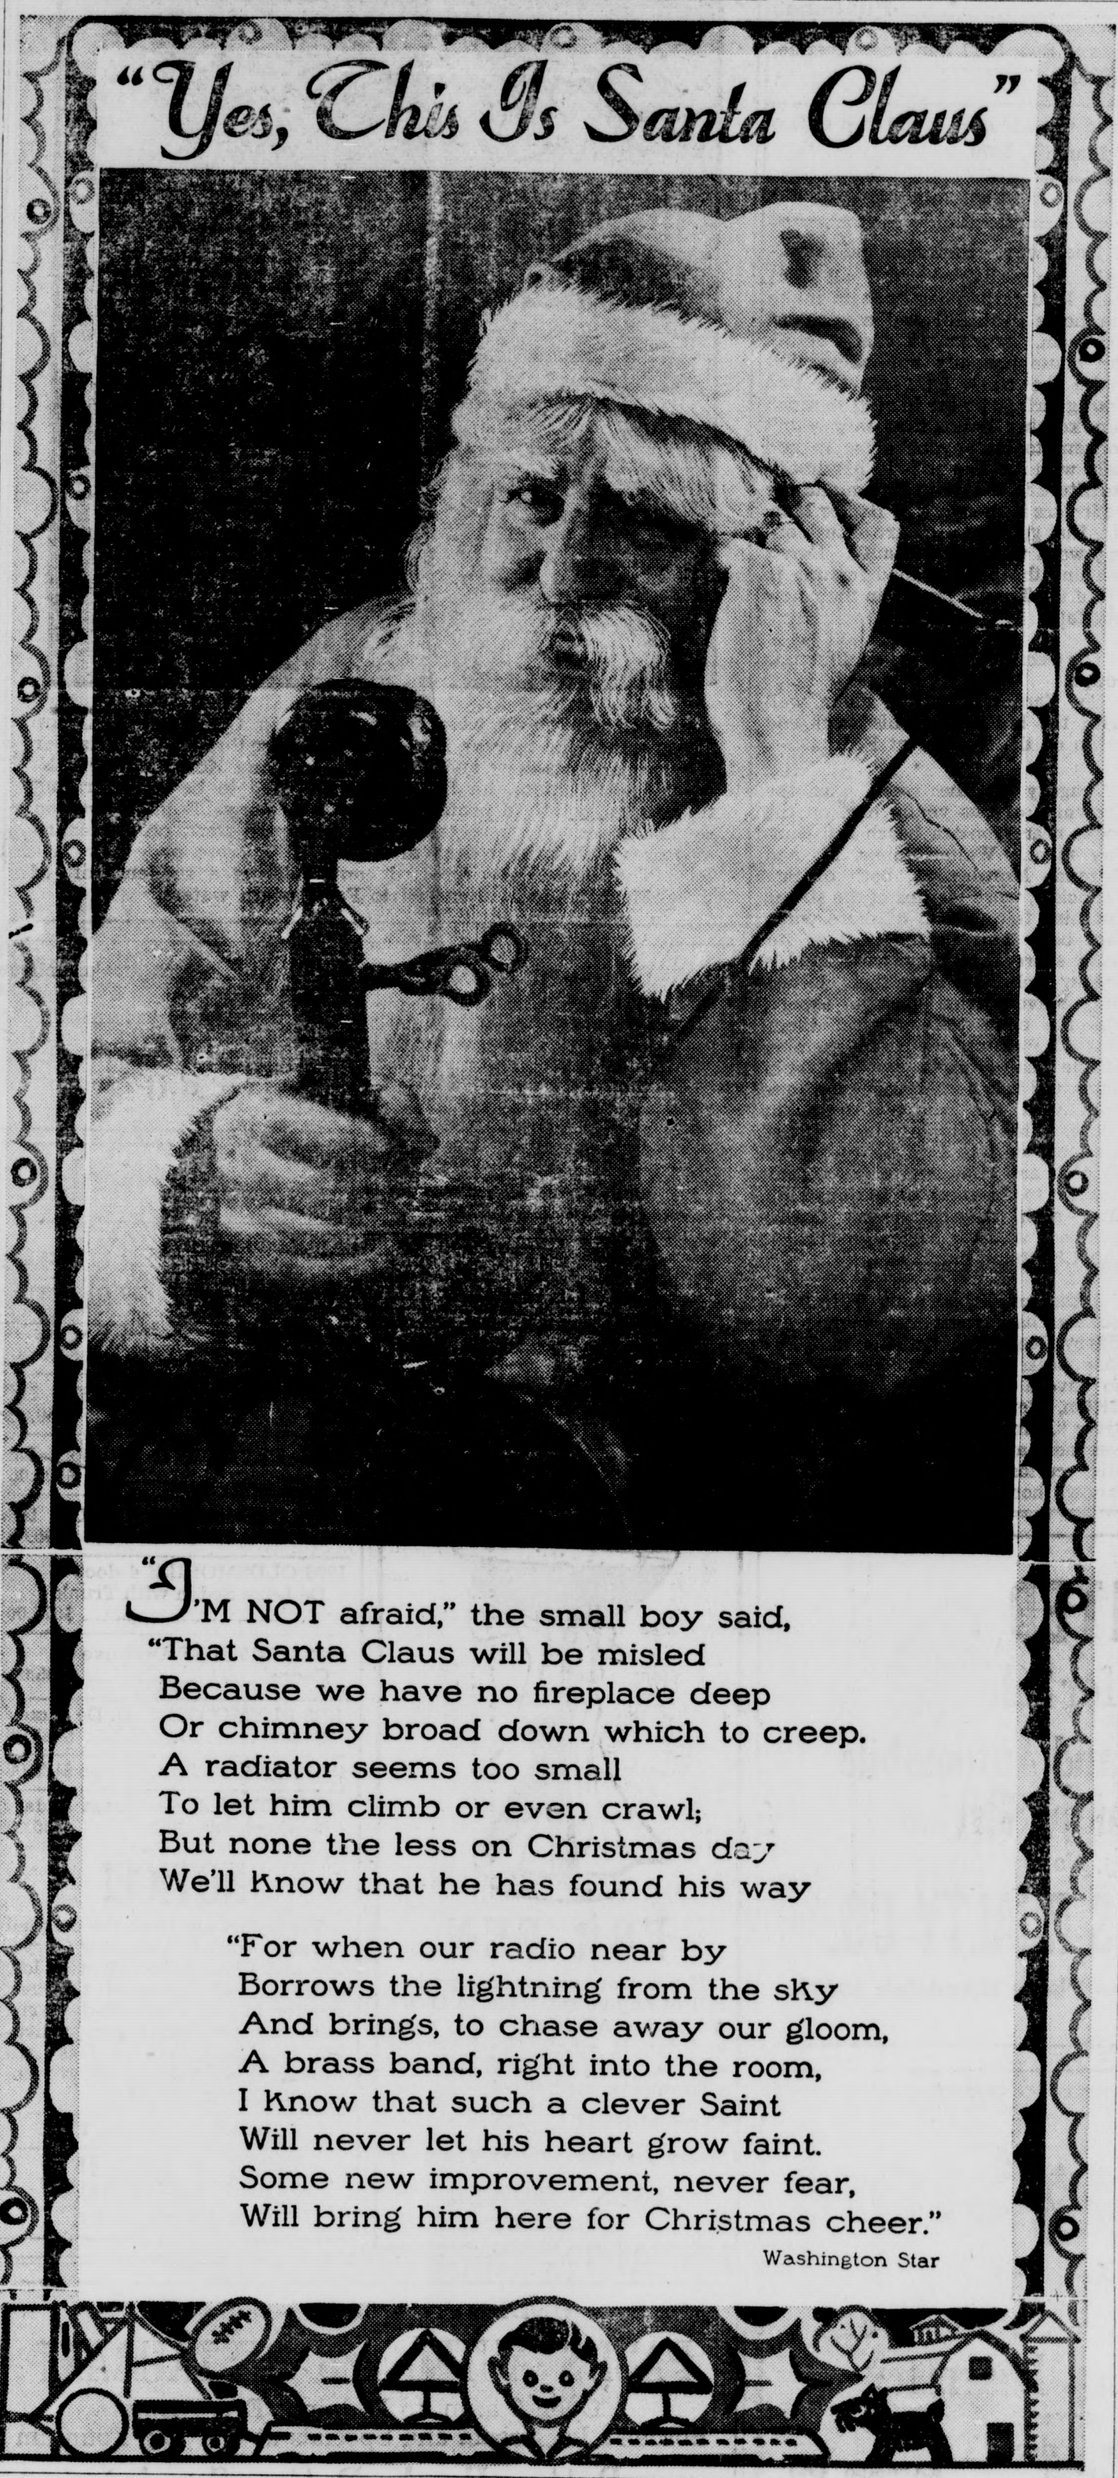
TRAIN CRASH KILLS AUTOIST AT SAN BRUNO

At the crossing at Scott avenue in San Bruno, Sunday of this week, an automobile was struck by a Southern Pacific train. The driver, who was alone in the car, was instantly killed and the car completely demolished.

The motorist's body had been hurled 150 feet as the speeding train and the vehicle collided with terrific compact.

The remains were tentatively identified as those of Francis Sidney Smith, 37, a steel worker of 2136 California street, San Francisco.

Engineer O. L. Stein of San Jose, who was operating the train, told authorities he did not see the car in time to stop.



"I'M NOT afraid," the small boy said,
"That Santa Claus will be misled
Because we have no fireplace deep
Or chimney broad down which to creep.
A radiator seems too small
To let him climb or even crawl;
But none the less on Christmas day
We'll know that he has found his way

"For when our radio near by
Borrows the lightning from the sky
And brings, to chase away our gloom,
A brass band, right into the room,
I know that such a clever Saint
Will never let his heart grow faint.
Some new improvement, never fear,
Will bring him here for Christmas cheer."

Jaysee Girl Student Sings In Broadcast

When Griff Williams, orchestra leader at the Hotel Mark Hopkins, entertained with some of his band members at the recent student assembly at San Mateo Junior College, Miss Frances Ryan, Jaycee coed, was called on for several songs and imitations.

She proved so entertaining that Williams at once asked the Jaycee student to sing with his orchestra that evening at the hotel. Miss Ryan accepted the invitation and sang over a national hook-up with the orchestra.

FIVE PERSONS ARE INJURED IN TWO CAR CRASH

Serious Hurts Suffered By Two, Others Escape With No Great Casualties

Five people were injured, two of them elderly women, in a two-car crash which occurred last Sunday at Junipero Serra boulevard and San Pedro avenue, Colma.

One car was driven by Mrs. R. Lucille Gould, 37, 2247 Thirty-fifth avenue, and the other by John Sioblom, 67, 60 Rolph street, both of San Francisco.

The most seriously hurt were Mrs. Ido Sioblom, 75, 60 Rolph street, who suffered a broken collar bone and possible internal injuries, and Mrs. Tillie Olson, 77, 45 Prospect avenue, San Francisco, who received a fractured collar bone and severe bruises.

Nelson Olson, 77, husband of one of the injured women, Sioblom and Mrs. Gould, escaped with minor hurts.

Crime didn't pay in the case of Oscar Shires, who was sentenced to from one to two years for robbery at Alma, Wis. The crime netted Shires only three cents.

SODIUM LIGHTS ARE INSTALLED ON THREE MILES EAST HIGHWAY

Improved System Will Illuminate Bayshore From San Francisco To South San Francisco

A three and one half mile stretch of the Bayshore Highway, from San Francisco city limits to South San Francisco is to be illuminated with sodium vapor lights, installation of which was under way, Monday of this week, according to T. H. Dennis, maintenance engineer for the State Highway District.

An eight year survey of traffic accidents on the road resulted in this lighting project.

Sodium vapor lighting on the highway is an experimentation in traffic safety work, Mr. Dennis said. The highway is unlighted over almost its entire length.

The lights will be set at staggered intervals, 140 feet apart. The lighting system will feature 10,000 lumen lamps.

STATE CONGRESS FELICITATES ITS COUNTY UNITS

Seventeenth District Holds Regular Meeting Devoted To Spirit Of Christmas

Seventeenth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, convened in the gayly decorated auditorium of the Burlingame High School, Friday, December 17. Due to the holiday season, the executive board was called by the President, Mrs. Elmer L. Miller, just preceding the regular meeting, at which time the convention date was postponed from April 14 to April 21.

The Parent-Teachers Association is widely known for its participation in forwarding and giving opportunity to children educationally; but, as well, it plays an active part in co-operating with other philanthropic organizations in aiding underprivileged children.

Dental and health clinics are supported and in special cases, doctor and dental bills have been paid; also glasses to aid vision are given upon requests of school nurses. Physical education classes for mothers are being conducted. White raincoats and hats for the traffic squad was a project of one unit.

The successful accomplishment of the work of the organization is due to the leadership and co-operation of its members.

Representing the state, Mrs. Edwin I. Bartlett, sixth vice president, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., and a district past president, extended greetings and brought a Christmas suggestion that each P.-T. A. member develop their inner potentialities that they may be an inspiration to others. Also bringing greetings were other past presidents, Miss Victoria Roussel, Mrs. J. R. Spann, Mrs. R. D. Richards.

Mrs. C. N. Kirklride, character education chairman, drew a word picture of Christmas spirit exhibited in various sections of the world.

Christmas music of the District Choral group, under the direction of Mrs. F. C. Lee, accompanied by Mrs. C. M. Bandtel, followed by community singing, featured the entertainment for the morning meeting.

Youth Hurt When Struck By Auto

Lloyd Risso of Colma, received minor back injuries and a sprained wrist, Tuesday evening of this week, when he was struck by an auto at Hillcrest drive and Mission street.

The youth was conveyed to the Villa Hospital by Officer Dalton, for treatment and was later removed to his home.

ROCKAWAY BEACH PEDRO VALLEY

By C. H. T.

We have to imagine such frosty sounds as "jingle bells" along the coast, where the smooth hills are green with the recent rains, the sky bright, the sunshine warm, and the surf singing its soothing song among the rocks and sand. But, jingle bells, or no jingle bells, we know what day it is. Merry Christmas, everybody! And here's an idea, wouldn't turkey merchants do a brisk trade among those to whom the price of the seductive birds seems too high, if they offered customers a chance to purchase a big turkey on the installment plan—say nothing down, and six months to pay? This is one of those tongue-in-cheek suggestions, so don't take it too seriously. Linked with holiday talks and Christmas music, come repeated warnings to drivers of cars not to mix driving and drinks, lest they bring tragedy to themselves and others using the highways. Unfortunately the drunken driver believes that he is the exception to the rule, and that he is such a wonderful person that he can drive safely, drunk or sober. Just kidding himself, of course.

Mr. Jim Troglia and his two young daughters will spend the first Christmas in their elegant new residence at Rockaway. Florence and Annabelle are delighted with all that their kind father has done to make the home beautiful and convenient for them. Modern in every detail, the house has city appliances that make the work light for the two young girls, who are having so much fun keeping house that they won't consent to let anyone come in and help with it. The artistic, handmade furniture in the dining room and the bedrooms is the work of Hector Martin, that genius in the art of fashioning wood to express beauty. Here's wishing the best of good fortune to all of the Troglia family in their new abode!

Tragedy of the week was the drowning of two young men on the rocks near Montara beach last Sunday night. Walter Johns, 23, and Rozendo Morales, 22, both of San Francisco, were victims of the strong outgoing tide and an offshore wind, that bore their fishing boat so far from shore that they were unable to row back. Shedding their clothes, they bravely tried to swim ashore, but the odds were against them. Russell Phillips, the third member of the fishing party, was the only one saved in a heroic rescue by three men who had watched from the shore. The bodies of the drowned men are expected to be recovered. Friends and relatives of the victims hurried to the scene in anxious vigil. Any such tragedy seems doubly grievous when it occurs so close to the Christmas holidays.

Handsome "Johnny Hills," the golden bay racehorse owned by Harry Rees, was a visitor at Pedro last week, and everybody just had to have a look at him. Tame as a kitten, alert and decidedly inquisitive, "Johnny" pokes his black velvet nose at any object that arouses his curiosity. A neighbor who knows horses, was invited to take a ride on Johnny, but he refused. "Johnny is a bit too swift for me. He'd leave me at the starting post."

NEW CHINESE WAR ZONES OUTLINED

As Japanese troops advance on retreating Chinese, this map shows where the new or impending Japanese thrusts will endanger Americans in Hankow and Tsingtao. In Hong Kong, a short distance from Canton, the British are reported to be concentrating their naval power to protect their crown colony. Both French and English troops are reported to have adopted stern precautionary measures, following recent air attacks which were made over Canton. The British are reported contemplating a sudden shift of their Mediterranean squadron to Far Eastern waters.

THE OBJECTION

A man was buying a dog, and the shop assistant was very anxious to sell him a dachshund. But the prospective dog-owner was evidently not very keen on this type of animal.

"What is it about a dachshund that you don't care for?" asked the assistant.

OBSERVATION OF VARIOUS THINGS IN OUR CAPITAL

(By Hart Goodrich)

Bear meat, cherry pie, pictures, fountain pens, home made candy, socks, plum pudding—just a few of the gifts sent to "F. D. R. and the Missus" every day in the year. And I bet you can't guess what heads the list in popularity to send the President—hand made neckties. The chief executive has his choice of all colors and styles, embroidered and knitted, some initialed, others with a prominent "R" emblazoned so that all may see that the wearer is Roosevelt (or Ruggles). Some of these ties bear the President's likeness, or what the sender intended as a likeness.

Each time the President is indisposed with a head cold, the news items of that fact bring a flood of hand made chest protectors, sweaters, wrist warmers, woolen socks, ear muffs and home made remedies.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt have followed the strict policy of returning all presents of any real intrinsic value, but have been happy to accept the many little inexpensive remembrance and tokens of appreciation tendered to them. They both make it a rule to acknowledge personally all gifts they feel they can keep. That is a pretty big task when it is remembered that our President has many more pressing duties to perform.

The White House is a commodious place, but there is a limit to everything. The room originally assigned as the resting place for miscellaneous gifts has long since been found inadequate. Another room in the White House now catches the overflow, as well as a room at Hyde Park, and one at his little white cottage at Warm Springs, Georgia. The White House employes have named these rooms the "chamber of horrors," prompted by the grotesqueness of many of the good will gifts. The President never uses the term, but he is aware of what is meant by the name since, when he turns over a present to a subordinate for safe keeping, the latter may bow out saying, "I will put it in the chamber of horrors, sir."

The eatables received are, of course, carefully inspected and are either put in the White House larder for eventual use on the presidential table or sent to one of the local hospitals. Just how often the gift rooms are emptied and what finally becomes of the gifts only one or two persons know. More than likely the President himself, could not say with accuracy.

One thing those daily gifts do signify: that the people, every day people, like you and I, want the President to know how much they love and respect him. And he appreciates their thoughtfulness, whether it is expressed in the stitches of a hand made tie or the goodness of home made plum pudding.

ALCAZAR PLAY DEPICTING XMAS HOLIDAY SPIRIT

One Of Best Productions Yet By Federal Theater Project Closes Monday

For anyone who has yet to get the feel of Christmas, this reviewer suggests a visit to the Alcazar Theater, to see the production of Charles Dickens, "The Cricket on the Hearth," which closes next Monday, December 27.

The prosaic of every day life is doffed with hat and coat as one enters the theater. From busy O'Farrell street to the poetry of Dickens' time is but a step, it is quickly discovered. The play is done in the period of that day, 1845. One enters to find the house lights half up, the curtain fully up and the stage set with the interior of a cottage of the English countryside, a cheerful fire burning on the hearth. No one is on the stage.

The play starts with the entrance of a courteously apologetic old gentleman hastening down the aisle from the rear of the house. He seats himself in a chair beside the fire. He is the Story Teller. He begins the tale of "The Cricket on the Hearth" and one by one, the characters in the play appear upon the stage. So naturally do they take up the thread of the story with dialogue and action that one is unconsciously drawn into the living interest of these people of nearly a century ago. Another surprise comes with the conclusion of each act, when the curtain is not lowered and the scenes are changed by four carolers, who, dressed so like the illustrations of a Dickens book they appear to have stepped from between its covers, sing as they go about their work.

To a charge of reckless driving and speeding through the town of Breese, Ill., William Treuman, pleaded not guilty, saying he didn't see any town. He was fined $1 and costs by a justice of the peace.

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(By Maude Larue Ives)

Question: What name did the ancients call the ostrich?

Answer: The camel bird.

* * *

Question: In what novel way do women of Japan enjoy the radio?

Answer: Japanese ladies are able to use their parasols for a double purpose. Receiving sets are built into the handles and the ribs of the parasols serve as antennae. The novelty is very popular.

* * *

Question: Who was Justus H. Rathbone?

Answer: He was the founder of the Knights of Pythias, a large organization next in number to the Masonic and Odd Fellow Orders. This fraternal and benevolent order was originally based on the story of the self-sacrificing friendship of Damon and Pythias. The society was originated in Washington, D. C., year 1864. Members are pledged to help each other, "friendship to the death," being the theoretical ideal.

* * *

Question: What is the difference between a moth and a butterfly?

Answer: The bodies of most moths are thicker then those of butterflies. In general the moths are the more soberly colored of the two groups. The antennae, or feelers, of the moths are feathery and end in a point; those of butterflies are clubbed, each one ending in a little knob. The wings of moths, when at rest, are horizontal rather than at an angle with the body, and sometimes reach an expanse of six or seven inches. Some moths have a peculiar fastening resembling a hook and eye, that holds the fore and hind wings together in flight. This is never present in butterflies.

FIRESIDE CHATTER

(Louise K. Lueke)

Merry, Merry Christmas friends, each of you. I can hardly remember a year when we have had such lovely weather right up to Xmas day. Of course, we who came from the snowy portions of this country can scarcely feel as Xmasy, if you get my meaning, as you who were born here. I admit though, this is more comfortable if not not as picturesque. Last Sunday was such a busy day here. The firemen were trimming their tree and while I was helping the community tree the McKinneys passed, loaded up with the gifts for the school. By the way, folks, be sure you take a look at the big tree on Visitacion near Klamath. It was lighted for the first time on Xmas eve, when people from Brisbane gathered around and sang carols.

Guess these fellows don't know we can shoot straight if we want to and we may want to if surprised any more.

Cecil Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Foster was injured, Sunday of last week, in an accident on the highway. Mr. Foster was riding a bicysle. He was unconscious for several hours. Hope you will soon be O. K., Cecil.

How little we realize so much joy can be gained from even an Xmas card. Our happy go lucky friend, Red, who smiles his way around town with his cane and dog, was bursting with joy this morning when I passed the post office. He had received a Christmas card and was back in line to see if there were more.

The three little Gulls, children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gull, are all ill with colds.

* * *

See the Catholic Church has a new organ. They now own the Social Hall and hold regular services there.

* * *

Looks like the Brisbane bus line will change hands very soon. At present it would appear our friend "Mitch" will own and operate this line. His plans have not been made public as yet, but he is well liked by all and needs your help to make a good transportation connection with San Francisco.

* * *

Did you see the line up at the post office every day this week? Mrs. Dewhurst and her helper will be too tired to eat turkey I am afraid.

Brisbane suddenly appeared to have vanished the other night when the fog rolled in. The bus had to unload at the highway. Mr. Fogarty played the good samaritan and hauled 5 cars out of the ditch. The entrance was indiscernable and these folks just missed the right of way on the turns. No one was injured, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Croft entertained the members of the Advisory Board on Thursday night of this week.

The Mothers Club think they are going to have some good news for us soon. Guess what it is?

* * *

Looks like all the boys in Brisbane have bikes this year. There were 8 out front just now. Hope some of the motorists watch for these kids. There is not much room for them to ride except in the streets.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Al Foster entertained friends and relatives, Sunday of last week, at a dinner in honor of Mr. Foster's birthday. Mr. Foster says he will have no more birthdays from now on.

* * *

Saw Mrs. Mitchell and the baby yesterday. He gave me a great big smile. Some boy, Mitch, no wonder you are proud.

* * *

Monday's house looks very attractive with all of its Xmas decorations. They have remodeled quite a bit this past year.

* * *

It is good to see so many of the unfinished homes being completed. By next summer the tract should be very attractive.

Well, time to say Aloha folks, and untli next week, Bye, Bye.

MISSOURI MULE IS HONORED BY BOYS OF ARMY

Parade With Bands And Flying Flags To Commemorate Retirement From Service

Army men all over the world know mules. There has been no military force within the memory of living man in which they have not been an integral part. Even with the motorization of army units, the sun never sets on them. Today they are serving in every country in the world, just as they served with the Allies and the Central Powers in the World War; with the Japanese and the Russians in Manchuria, and with Kitchener in the Soudan. They have served and are now serving under every flag.

The army mule has been immortalized in song and story, but it remained for Lieut.-Col. E. E. Bennett, commanding officer at Fort Totten, Queens, New York, to order out the regiment recently, to do him full military honors in recognition of duty well and willingly performed, of loyalty and obedience—things, it was remarked by Army officers, not always found in men.

Colonel Bennett's order calls for the regiment to parade with bands and flags on the parade ground at Fort Totten for Jack, a 29-year-old native of Missouri pastures, which are famous for producing some of the finest mules in the world.

In voicing praise of their long-eared friend, the commander said: "Through all his 27 years of service in the United States Army, Jack has been an outstanding public servant, performing all his duties in accordance with the highest of army mule traditions. The matter of his willingness to work whenever called upon has been the subject of enthusiastic comment.

"The commanding officer directs that Jack shall be cared for during the remaining years of his life and that he be not called upon again to perform work of any kind so long as he shall live."

There is a language common to mules and "mule skinners," horses and horsemen. Hence "mule skinners" at Fort Totten said today that Jack was greatly gratified at the honor done him and that he felt he deserved it. Moreover, he looks forward with anticipation, and not a little sentiment, at his comrades—for he regards the privates and the non-commissioned officers of the regiments as fellow-servants with him of the American nation—lining up on dress parade on the occasion when he puts off for all time the collar, the hames and the traces.

Jack first opened his eyes to the sun in 1909 and started his Army life with a mounted battery five years later, with General Pershing on the Mexican border.

CAMERA CLUB NOTE

Customer: "This photograph makes me look older than I really am."

Photographer: "Well, that will save you the expense of having one taken later on."

The Picture Of The Year

Sonja Henie and Tyron Powers, gayly romantic in a magnificent musical, are surrounded by da zling beauty, shining spectacle, and riotous fun in "Thin Ice," Twentieth Century-Fox hit.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

Folks, the Community Church is your church whether you atend or not, so we are going to publish a monthly report of all money taken in and all money paid out. You see, we are such a small town that every inch of improvement must be acceptable to all and be it church, homes or stores, you are my neighbor and I am yours.

Our merchants are donating toward a business directory which will be passed to your door in the near future. Please patronize these men for they are needed here. It would be hard on us all if they were to move away.

Sunday morning, December 26, Santa will be at Sunday School and the children will all receive a treat and will also present an entertainment. The offering for this day will go to the building fund.

Anyone who is ill or in need of the services of a pastor will find Rev. Donaldson on the job all the time at 300 Klamath street.

The boys up to 14 years of age are organizing a Pioneer Club. Twice a month they will have swimming parties. There will be games and hikes and lots of fun. The older boys up to 21 will be taught by the Rev. Donaldson and they are also club minded. Swimming, games and competitive sports will be their aim. These things are free to the boys who will join. The girls will be taken care of too, soon.

DEPRIVATION

"Why are you crying, little girl?"

"'Cause my brother has holidays and I don't."

"Well, why don't you have holidays?"

"'Cause I don't have to go to school yet."

NEW OWNER FOR LOCAL BUS LINE

The Brisbane bus line now belongs to our friend "Mitch" or Mitchel and he promises real service to all who patronize him.

He will run a 20 minute schedule from 5:30 to 8 a. m.; from 8 to 4 will be ½ hour service; from 4 to 6 every 20 minutes; from 6 to 8 every 30 minutes and from 8 to 12 every hour.

One run at 12:30 and on Saturday night there will be a bus at 1 a. m.

Mitch has always been well liked in this community and we wish him all the luck in the world.

Be sure you ride with him when ever it is possible.

His conscience bothered the thief taking $240 worth of jewelry and clothing from the home of Jack Holtz in White Plains, N. Y., so much he returned the loot by parcel post, all charges prepaid.

BE CAREFUL FOR XMAS TREE FIRES

A little warning at this time may be of great help to many of us, by preventing a disastrous fire. We all know of the disasters caused by children and grown ups at Xmas celebrations when a tree was carelessly pushed over, setting fire to the decorations.

It is ture that candles were used in many of those instances, as were also highly inflammable ornaments and decorations. Today we have the best, safest and most fire proof tree decorations and lighting equipment. But still, the fire hazard is present, even with our modern equipment.

Old, worn out wiring, used from year to year, is a definite hazard. Overloading the circuit with too many lights from one outlet or sicket, the dangerous method of using a copper penny in place of a good fuse and the use of too large a fuse, all contribute to the fire hazard at this time of year.

A shorted or over loaded line will cause a slow but dangerous fire and usually takes place when all are asleep. Be on the safe side. Be careful. It a tree catches fire, shut off the lighting switch first.

Do not put water on this type of fire, for with the wiring still working it may prove fatal. This has happened many times. Water is a good conductor of electricity, so turn off the switch first. Call the fire department. Remember that a small spark has caused many a great conflagration.

Brisbane has a very good record of safe and joyous Christmases during the past six years. Let us keep that record.

May the Brisbane Fire Department extend to all citizens of Brisbane our very best wishes for a Merry Christmas.

F. H. Schmidt,
Fire Chief.

For a Clear Windshield

If it rains while the windshield wiper is out of order, rub a little kerosene on the outside of the windshield and the glass will remain clear through the heaviest rain.

One application will last an hour or more. A small tin of kerosene kept in the tool box may prove a great convenience.—E. T. Boston.

WILL CELEBRATE XMAS MASS

Mass will be celebrated Christmas morning at 9:30 in the Brisbane Social Hall. Appropriate music will be rendered by the children of St. Joseph's School under the direction of the Sisters of Charity. On New Year Mass will be celebrated at the same time and place.

The usual Friday evening whist parties in charge of Mrs. Blair will be resumed after Christmas.

Board Is Thanked For Co-operation

At a meeting, held early this week, the members of the Daly City baseball team adopted, and later conveyed this resolution to the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District:

"We, the members of the Daly City Baseball Team, wish to thank you and each of you for the co-operation that was shown to us in helping maintain good condition of the baseball field at the high school grounds. We wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
